Happy Anniversary!

Welcome to the 2020 Bead&Button Show!

It’s an honor to welcome you to the 20th Anniversary Celebration of the Bead&Button Show. That means for 20 years we’ve been connecting through our passion for beads, gems, stones and all facets of jewelry-making.

You won’t believe what’s in store for our celebration party. The whole week of Bead&Button will be filled with excitement, surprises, gifts and parties. This is one extravaganza you won’t want to miss!

You hold in your hands our labor of love – the Annual Class Catalog filled with the best classes available brought to you by the most talented instructors. From beading and Kumihimo to enameling, chain maille, metalwork and lampworking, there is a class designed to help you take your jewelry-making to the next level.

Focus on a technique you want to learn or find a project you love. It’s all inside. Please be our guest. Browse the catalog, and then head online to BeadandButtonShow.com to select your classes. You can even put them onto your Wish List so that when registration opens on January 7 you just go back to your account and add them to your cart. This will assure that you can get into your choice of classes.

Register online starting January 7, 2020! Then make sure to review the Show hotel details on page 66, and book early. The hotels do fill-up and you will want to be right onsite for your convenience and the easiest access to all the celebrations!

Questions? Contact us at customerservice@beadandbuttonshow.com and we can help! I can’t wait to see you in Milwaukee in June.

Warm regards,
Sara Dumford

Our 2020 Show Bead is a gorgeous swirling-blue creation by Cindi Brunell, a lifelong resident of Southeastern Michigan who started making jewelry as a young girl stringing love beads in the ‘60s.

Cindi vividly recalls her childhood fascination with a glass blower at the local mall: “He not only played with fire but he created beautiful sparkling sculptures out of glass!” Her father built a studio in her garage, where she kept practicing. “That studio has since morphed into a wonderful group space where I offer classes and host teachers from around the world. We affectionately call it Cindi’s Bead and Breakfast.”

In the 16 years that she has been creating glass beads, Cindi has found that she often gravitates toward blue and always aims for a bead with enough beauty to grab your attention. “The patterns, intricate designs, and shifting colors are forever encased and magnified by beautiful clear glass.”

Her work has been greatly influenced by the teachers she has worked with, among them Hayley Tsang Sather, Elena Hernburg, David Penso, Robyn Cornelius, Jari Sheese, Lisa St. Martin and Lisa Atchinson. “These artists have generously shared their knowledge and education unsparingly. I hope they are proud of their part in my art.”

Cindi also credits her local lamp working guild, The Glass Act, for the education, mentoring and friendship she has found there. “Some of my best friends and chosen sisters are in the guild.”

She lives in Livonia, a suburb of Detroit, with David, her husband of 35 years. Their son Zachary is a classically trained percussionist and professional musician.

“My goal is to continue my education and help others learn about this beautiful world of artistic glass.”

Cindi would like to thank Double Helix Glassworks for helping with her projects. Visit https://doublehelixglassworks.com/

Excellence in Jewelry Artistry Award Winner
Helena Tang-Lim

Helena Tang-Lim’s creations spring from a respect for the cultures of Southeast Asia, a fascination with haute couture jewelry, and a love of seed beads. Taken together, the result is intricately designed and fastidiously constructed wearable art that has distinguished her among bead artists.

In announcing Helena as the 2020 recipient of the Excellence in Jewelry Artistry Award, Bead&Button Show Director Sara Dumford said, “Helena’s commitment to her beaded art is significant, and her creative artworks are unmatched in quality and style. We are excited to give her this recognition.”

Helena, who is teaching a Master Class at the 2020 Bead&Button Show, will be presented with the award at this year’s Show. She is the 17th jewelry artist to receive the prestigious honor.

Helena called the award “very humbling. When I started on my journey on ‘Planet Bead’ all I wanted was to make myself a pair of beaded shoes. Never in my wildest dreams did I think that one day I would be where I am today.”

A predominantly self-taught artist, Helena was initially inspired by the beadwork of an ethnic group in Southeast Asia that designed the beaded shoes that got her started. At first, she didn’t have many beading resources at her disposal and turned to the Internet to broaden her horizons. What she found there “just wowed me … People like Marcia DeCoster, Melanie Potter, Cynthia Rutledge, and Laura McCabe were a real inspiration, because they showed me what could be done with beads.” She went on to pursue classes and workshops – including at the Bead&Button Show – to refine her techniques and skills.

She eventually left a career managing an eyewear distribution company to pursue beading full-time. Today, she regularly conducts her own beading workshops around the world and runs an online shop called Manek-Manek Beads, which takes its name from the Malay word for beads.

Her beaded wearables often resemble fine haute jewelry. Inspired by the colors and cultures of her adopted country of Singapore, many of her works incorporate the accents and nuances of her environment. “I only make jewelry that I would personally wear,” she says. “I love the simple, elegant, clean yet rich and luxurious lines that many pieces of fine jewelry have. My objective is always to give the illusion of haute joaillerie in my work. Whenever anyone wears my jewelry I want them to feel like a million dollars. So you could say my style is haute joaillerie in beads.”

Helena finds beads endlessly challenging, and always rewarding. “It’s the challenge of making the beads go where and how I want them to go that keeps me fascinated,” she says. “And when it all falls into place, it is extremely satisfying. Although I will wear every piece that I make, it is the process that is most rewarding to me.”
